

Independent Producers Announce '1066' Sequel Underway.

On the 9th September 1087, as the sun rose, Duke William of Normandy, King of England, died naked and alone at Saint-Gervais, Rouen - a broken man. A victim of his own ambition, the conquering tyrant King had lost everything to a rebellious people and the treachery of his own family.

'1066' The Film PLC announced today that they are developing the script for '1087' the sequel to the eagerly awaited epic '1066' an historically accurate portrayal of the events that lead to the famous battle between King Harold II and William the Conqueror, Duke of Normandy. With unprecedented interest from the movie making establishment '1066' already boasts a retinue of 'A' list production staff and crew members who have dozens of box office block busters to their credit.

With an excellent script '1066' has already begun the provisional casting process securing some notable attachments in both cast and crew positions. Oliver! Star Mark Lester is returning to the big screen after a break of almost 30 years playing King Harold II alongside his son Felix Lester who has been cast as Harold's son Godwin. Also on the cast list are Ian Whyte (alien Vs Predator) and Martin Klebber diminutive star of the Pirates of the Caribbean franchise. The script has been written by Robin Jacob and Historian Helen Hollick author of 'Harold the King'.

Another recent coup for the '1066' production team is the attachment of industry legend Ted Kotcheff Executive Producer of the much acclaimed TV series Law & Order: Special Victims Unit. As an award winning Director, Kotcheff took the helm of a string of hits including Rambo-First Blood with Sylvester Stallone the Gene Hackman action drama Uncommon Valour and the cult comedy Weekend at Bernie's. He takes on the role of producer.

With preliminary casting underway for the remaining 90+ speaking parts the question on everyone's lips is:

Who will take on the role of William Duke of Normandy?
